

Vessel Identification Number (VIN) / Aircraft Identification Number (AIN)

Vessel/Aircraft Identifiers

The objectives of vessel/aircraft identifiers are:

- To enable ready identification of vessels/aircraft being operating within the Marine Parks under a Marine Parks permit (enforcement and planning value).
- To remove the requirement for Permittees to advise of all vessel/aircraft interchange movements.
- To reduce permit administration effort for Permittees, Great Barrier Reef Marine Park Authority (the Authority) and Queensland Parks and Wildlife Service (QPWS).

Vessel/Aircraft Identifiers

An identifier is a unique identifying plate (like a number plate) that operators place in their vessels/aircraft. This plate identifies that the vessel/aircraft is being operated under a Marine Parks permit.

- It is intended that all Permittees be issued with a number of unique identifiers equivalent to the number of permitted vessels/aircraft.
- Where an identifier has been issued it must be externally visible (on the port side for vessels) when operating in the Marine Parks.
- Vessel identifiers are a red colour-coded rigid plastic plate (approx. 200mm x 150mm) and aircraft identifiers are a blue colour-coded rigid plastic plate (approx. 140mm x 100mm), which bear the identification number which is linked to the operators specific permit.
- The rigid plastic plate, which is laser-etched, should be attached in a manner to allow for easy transfer between vessels/aircraft as required.
- Identifiers are produced and administered by the Authority (Estimated total cost $18.70 per VIN/AIN plus postage and handling* and an administration fee).
- The use of identifiers will not provide operators with an ability to deviate from permit conditions or Plans of Management (e.g. passenger capacity or setting limits).

Replacement of Vessel/Aircraft Identifiers

In the case of loss or damage to a vessel/aircraft identifier the Permittee must provide a statutory declaration to cover the loss of an identifier before being issued with a replacement. In the case of damage to an identifier the Permittee may pre-pay for a replacement that can be sent to their nearest QPWS office. On receipt of a damaged identifier, QPWS can then issue the new identifier. Permittees are to bear the cost of any replacement identifiers, applicable postage and handling and administration fees.

Identifiers will be sent to you by registered mail, after payment is received.
